Coal-Dealers Expect to Do Some Business This Year, Although It Is Light Just Now.

Prospects with the coal-dealers of this city are not very encouraging, and it is generally conceded that in another year there will be but few men engaged in the business. The dealers say they will not make a fortune out of what they expect to sell this winter. What trade they have is, in a great part, made up of small orders from persons who have been disappointed in getting gas. The orders are chiefly for $1 and half loads. Some of the dealers, though, claim that their business has not been greatly impaired by cheap fuel. One of these said to a Journal reporter yesterday that inasmuch as his trade is confined to the suburban portions of the city, he had not been materially effected, and hoped to do almost as good a business this year as last. Hunt & Pray say that the steam trade amounts to nothing, and is likely to remain in that condition. G. R. Root & Cc. think that the trade compared with last year is about one-fifth what it was then. "Last year," said a member of the firm, "we sold monthly to the steam trade 200 cars. So far this year three cars have supplied the demand for the same length of time. I cannot see how the coal men are going to hold out another year. One year ago to-day we had eighty-eight orders. To-day we have had thir-teen. Last year we were hauling sixty loads of slack a day. To-day we are not hauling any, nor have we a contract to haul a single load." "Do you expect any increase in your business!" was asked. "About Nov. 1 I look for the trade to get better on account of the fact that a great many people who are keeping back their orders in the expectation of getting gas will be disappointed when cold weather begins and will be compelled to buy coal. Residents in the suburban part of the city are always late in placing their orders, and generally begin about the 1st of November." "How is the supply of coal this year?"

"About the same as in former years. There is plenty of coal in the city, and should a failure of gas occur the supply, would be fully adequate to the demand. Teams and carts have been kept by all the leading dealers to supply the de-mand should anything happen to the naturalgas supply."

HORRORS OF POOR-HOUSES

The Misery and Degradation Seen in Many of Them in This State.

Indifference of Authorities to the Treatment and Morals of the Children Who Are Exposed to Evil Practices and Vice.

The matrons of the county orphane' homes of the State will meet in this city to-day, at the Grand Hotel. Mrs. Sarah E. Franklin is president of the State association. She is a large, matronly-looking woman, and just the kind that an orphan would select for a mother if he had his own way in the matter. "We have nothing to keep secret," said she, in response to a Journal reporter's request for information, last night. "What we desire is the fullest ventilation through the newspapers of the horrible condition of the children in the county infirmaries of the State. It is time that the people of Indiana were becoming enlightened in this matter. It is a disgrace to the State and a disgrace to civilization. I have been all my life a visitor of poor-houses, and have seen the debauching associations of the friendless orphans, thrown together, as they are, with paupers, many of whom are wicked, vicious, idiotic, drunken and insane. In the adjoining county of Madison in the poor-house there are five idiots, so bideous and vile in appearance that but few visitors can endure the sight of them, and, all told, there are thirty-two pauper inmates there, ranging from six months to fourteen years of age. Among the adults is an unmarried woman, the mother of six children, who had the oversight of the pauper children. She has been arrested time and again for drunk enness and licentiousness, until she became known for all that is wicked and vile."

In her address to-day Mrs. Franklin will say in reference to the indifference of county commissioners upon this subject: "I have even found some people who think it all right that pauper children should associate with adult of these children belong to drunkards, and it is the sine of the fathers visited upon them. Some are the children of penitentiary convicts, while many are illegitimate."

"From actual observation," Mrs. Franklin continued in her talk to the reporter, "I have learned that the county infirmary, no matter how well kept or how kindly cared for are the inmates, is no place for little children. The character of the paupers and the nature of the surroundings make it a place to be dreaded and shunned by a healthy, well - ordered physical adult. Then what must be the effect upon the imagination and tender nerves of a young child? A lawyer, fifty years old, told me, a few days since, that it gave him the horrors for a week afterward because one of the epileptics went into a fit while he was watching him. He said that no amount of money would induce him to keep a poor house."

In describing some of the scenes of these places, Mrs. Franklin said: "Many years since I went into the poor-house of one county. There was a woman fastened to the wall by a belt around her waist, which was secured to a staple in the wall. From the belt up she was entirely nude. She had become insane through abuse from a drunken husband beating her over the head, She sat upon a lounge, throwing her naked arms wildly around her. Her black, bulging eyes, disheveled hair and grinning teeth startled me so that I have to-day a distinct remembrance. disheveled hair and grinning teeth startled me so that I have to-day a distinct remembrance, and shudder when I think of her frightful appearance. I visited another county poor-house about three weeks ago, and found there thirty-five paupers, seven of whom—five men and two women—are old and feeble, eight are incurably insane—six of whom are men and two are women—three are epileptics—all men—and there is one idiotic boy eighteen years old. All are addicted to the vilest habits. There is also there a natural-born idiot and two old negro men, one of whom has charge of the idiots; the men, one of whom has charge of the idiots; the three are in one room together. Besides this the inmates include ten children, eight to ten years of age, four of whom are girls. These paupers, men, women, children, insane idiots, negroes and sick, are all in the one building and negroes and sick, are all in the one building and commingle together at will. They all sit together at the same table, and are as closely associated in their daily life as the members of any family in this city. Think of it! Ten children from eight to fourteen years of age, growing up with these wicked, vicious, idiotic and insane persons. I would like to ask any father or mother what would be their feelings if their children were subject to such obnoxious influences for months or even weeks."

In speaking of the cost of maintaining such In speaking of the cost of maintaining such institutions Mrs. Frankin said: "Just as sure as these children are allowed to grow up with the scum of creation, just so sure we may ex-pect to reap a crop of paupers and thieves. The law allows the poor-house keeper sum of $2 per week each for their keeping in the county poor-house. For that amount of money these children can be well kept in an orphans' home, as well as the children of the average mechanic, where they may be trained in the fear of God and taught useful industries, and come to adult age without the odium of the poorhouse darkening their pathway. It has been alleged that pauper children are of a low grade of intellect, and that it is not worth while to spend time and money upon them. If we do not teach them to care for themselves while they are growing up, we will most assuredly have to provide for them in the poor-houses, jails and penitentiaries when they are grown. It is estimated that it costs $2,000 to raise an average child to the age of twenty-one years. If the child is allowed to have the advantage of this sum in a home under the tutelage of an efficient matron. the country gets the worth of the money thus judiciously expended. If, like under the old Spartan rule, inferior children could be put to death, it would be a great saving to the country. But our institutions do not allow such summary treatment, and it is our duty to make the most of the material on bands."

Mrs. Franklin, referring to a scene she witnessed a few days ago, said: "I sat in a window and saw hundreds of children, glorious in the 'red, white and blue,' with banners and streamers flying, sing the patriotic songs of the country as they went to welcome James G. Blaine, Gen. Hovey and Corporal Tanner. Gen. Hovey waved his hat as they passed in great squadrons. I thought, what a glorious country where little children are allowed to approach great men in freedom. I know these children will soon inherit the earth, and I rejoice in seeing them prepared for it. I remember my own twelveyear-old boy reaching his hand from the platform to the car and saying, 'How do you do, Gen. Grantl' and the General caught the chubby hand, with a smile and a hearty shake, as he said, 'I am well, thank you; how are you? In no other country on this globe could a boy have thus approached the great executive chief. I think of these and then I think of ten children from eight to four teen in a poor-house associating with the vicious, idiotic, insane, dranken and epileptic paupers amid awful horrors, imbecility, gibberings and vilest profanity." Mrs. Franklin is thoroughly in earnest in her work and intends to bring about a reformation if persistent efforts can do so.

Afraid of the Police.

The advertised sparring match between George M. Gayler and Peter Treeter, to take place at Tomlinson Hall last night, was abandoned at the eleventh hour. A large crowd of sports gathered in front of the hall at 8 o'clock, and the doors were about to be opened, when the coming of a half dozen policemen upon the scene made the pugilists weaken. The police, it is understood had instructions to interfere in ease there should be anything more than sparring, and rather than disappoint their friends the two men decided to cancel the match.

Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Theodore Fleschman and Mary Whalen, George L. Graebner and Allevine Reh, Frederick Marschka and Bertha A. Laube, H. H. How-land and Mary A. Gates, Henry M. Dunn and H. George Taylor and Clara Jones, Albert L. Peterson and Mattie C. Welch.

Pried Open the Money Drawer.

At noon yesterday a man about sixty years of age, accompanied by one much younger, entered W. H. Bennett & Son's store, at 38 South Meridian street, and asked to be shown a range. A clerk was alone in the store, and while the old fellow was looking at the article he said he wanted the young man, with a chisel, opened the small drawer of the safe and secured about $60. He gave the signal for leaving to his accomplice by saving that he had business to transact across the street. The two men then left. It was not long after that the clerk learned what had happened.

DR. TANNER A PHILANTHROPIST.

He Is Engaged in a Home Wherein Orphans Are to Be Cared for on a Universal Plan.

Dr. S. H. Tanner, who, in 1880, made himself known the world over by a fast of forty days, is in the city for the purpose of establishing what he terms a "Gathering-in Home" for children, preparatory to taking them to an orphans' home which has been established by himself and'a colony of forty at Las Cruces, New Mexico, on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad. The Doctor has been in the city for two weeks, and will remain here until the home in which he is interested has been erected. The only "Gathering-in Home" in the world, he says, has lately been established at New Orleans. It has now about twenty orphan children within its walls, awaiting the completion of the colony's home at Las Cruces, when the children will be taken there to be cared for and brought up in entire ignorance of liquor and tobacco, and fed entirely upon a vegetarian diet. Here they will be allowed to remain until they are fourteen years of age, when they will be declared of age, and, if not desireus of leaving the institution at that age, they will be permitted to remain in the home and pay the debt other little waifs. No more than 3,000 orphans will be taken in at the home; when they exceed that number a new colony in another State will be established, and this is to be repeated until every State in the Union has an institution of this kind. The proposed colonies are to be self-

The Doctor, in referring to his plans, last night, said the home at Las Cruces had 1,500 acres of land, supplied with all kinds of improved machinery, and that the orphans would be taught to till the soil. "I am the physician of the colony," said be, "and I believe in improving the present systems of charity. This crowding the orphans in cities should not be allowed. They should be given the benefit of the pure air of the country."

The Doctor has an office on South Illinois street, opposite the Grand Hotel, and says that he expects to lecture here this winter. In regard to his fast, he said: "I have never met but one man who never heard of my fast. He lived down in Mexico, where they never see a paper. I have been badly served by the newspaper reporters, and the alleged interview with me in the Chicago Tribune, a few weeks ago, was only the imaginative ravings of some enterprising newspaper man. The general im-pression among the people is that the first thing I ate after my fast was a slice of watermelon. I wish you would state that it is a mistake. The first I ate was a large ripe peach. Then I drank a glass of milk, after which I ate the slice of watermelon. I did not eat slow, either. I ate so much that in thirty hours I had gained nine pounds, and I am confident that if I could have a fast every ten years I would live to be 150 years old. I believe in the theory advanced by myself that I can seal myself in an air-tight coffin, remain concealed therein for forty days and come out alive. It all depends upon the will power of a

The Doctor does not believe in Christian science, but thinks that the mind-cure would in the future be the general remedy of overcoming all diseases. He has been in New Mexico for five years, having gone there with a colony from New York. In that time he has not eaten any meat of any kind.

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND-"THE VICE-ADMIRAL" The Conried Opera Company began a brief season at the Grand last night and pleased a large audience in spite of the weather and outside attractions. The opening performance was given under disadvantages for the company on account of a delayed train, which got in only a few minutes before it began. Millocker's "Viceadmiral" was given for the first time here, and proved to be a bright and tuneful opera, with some excellent concerted pieces, pretty soles and spirited choruses. The company is well costumed and drilled, and the performance was an entertaining one. Miss Bianchi sang very sweetly and acted cleverly as Gelda, and, besides several encores, was complimented with a large basket of flowers for her solo in the first act. Miss Lillian Conway and Miss Landgon, both of whom are new here in opera, deserve commendation for excellent vocalization and capable acting. Miss Langdon was especially clever in her scene with Mr. Fitzgerald in the second act. Mr. Hilliard, who is known here, as elsewhere, as a very excellent tenor, could not do himself full justice last night on account of a severe cold.

Mr. Fitzgerald, who is always good; Mr. Joseph Greensfelder, whose interpolated solo was the decided hit of the performance, Mr. Frank David, a really original comedian, and Miss Jennie Reiffreth filled out the cast satisfactorily. The chorus sang with spirit and understanding, ehorus sang with spirit and understanding, and altogether the performance was received with many demonstrations of favor. To-night and at the matines to-morrow (when popular prices will prevail) Czebulka's opera comique, "Amorita," which is regarded as the best in the company's repertoire, will be given, with "Black Hussar" to-morrow night. The "take" for these performances is large.

MARRIAGE OF COMEDIAN GOODWIN. CHICAGO, Oct. 18 .- A local paper says that Nat C. Goodwin, the well-known comedian, was privately married in this city a few days ago, to Miss Nellie Baker, who is described as a promipent society woman from the East. Great precautions were taken to keep the nuptials a profound secret, and they were partially successful. The marriage license was suppressed, and only one or two of Goodwin's most trusted and intimate friends were admitted to the ceremony. The story leaked out, however, in spite of the precautions. Goodwin admitted to a reporter that he had been married, but would not talk further about the matter.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 18 .- The lady who is reported to have been married to Nat Goodwin was formerly Mrs. E. C. Pease, of this city. She was divorced some time ago.

Bartley Campbell's best play, "My Partner," is pleasing large audiences at the Park, and will fill out the week. It is a strong drama, well

Chauncey M. Depew, Cornelius Vanderbilt. and the other gentlemen in their party, occupied a row in the parquette last night, and enjoyed the performance of "Vice-admiral."

Manager Dickson makes the announcement. of especial interest to matinee-goers, that, begipning with the matines performance to-morrow, the matinee prices at the Grand hereafter. except on holidays, will be 25 and 50 cents to all parts of the house, with reserved seats without extra charge.

"Amorita," which the Copried Opera Company will present at the Grand to-night and to-morrow afternoon, is entirely new in this city. It is by Czebulka, and is described as being particularly bright and tuneful and afferding opportunities for good spectacular display. The company regard it as the best opera in their repertoire, and their presentation of it has been much praised elsewhere.

Liffect of an Advance in Flour.

Owing to the advance in the price of wheat the price of flour has advanced from $2 to $3 per barrel, according to grade over September prices. The price of bread per loaf remains the same as it was, but the local bakers are getting even by cutting down the size and weight of the loaf. Where they formerly weighed out 18 onnees to the loaf they now weigh only 16. It is said that some of the bakers are cutting the weight down to fourteen onuces. This means a reduction of over 20 per cent. in the size of the loaf. Crackers have also advanced in price, and the same grade cannot now be bought for less than 10 cents a pound straight that formerly sold three pounds for a quarter.

Charges Against Bresnan. It was understood among the police yesterday that charges will to-day be preferred by Alfred Burdsal against officer Bresnau for drawing his revolver and threatening to shoot Burdsal on the night of the trouble at the New Denison House, some weeks ago. The charges have been drafted, and will be sworn to this morning. A Medical Instrument of Torture. A great number of the patients who come to the National Surgical Institute of this city are victims of that cruel appliance known as the "plaster of Paris jacket." The first thing the surgeons of the institute do is to cut off this jacket and give the suffer a chance for life. Mr. Wagoner, of Chicago, a patient at the Institute, who is rapidly recovering from paralysis, yester-day gave a reporter a pathetic account of his suffering in this diabolical medical contrivance. Of six children but two remain, James H. and John H. dren but two remain, James H. and John H. McNeely, both prominent citizens of Evansville, and publishers of the Journal of that city. Mrs. McNeely came to Indianapolis in 1849, and lived to see the city grow from a population of 8,000. In her early days she was an active member of the Methodist Church. Her death was unexpected, resulting from a short illness. The funeral services were conducted on Wednesday, at 2 o'clock, by Rev. Wm. Telfer, pastor of the California-street M. E. Church, and the remains interred in Crown Hill Cometery. interred in Crown Hill Cometery. HOWLAND-GATES.

The Central Christian Church was crowded. last night, at 6 o'clock, by the elite of the city, to witness the marriage of Miss Mary Alice Gates, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Gates, and Mr. Hewitt Hanson Howland, a young broker of this city. At precisely 6 o'clock Mr. Robert Newland played the Wedding March, Mr. Robert Newland played the Wedding March, and the bridal party made its appearance. The ushers, in full dress, were Messrs. H. B. Bennett, J. K. Sharpe, jr., Benjamin Nichols, James Condit, Pirtle Herod and J. B. Mansur. The brides-maids following were: Miss Reamer, of Pennsylvania, and Miss Herod, of this city; Miss Grant, of Zanesville, O., and Miss Margaret Barry; Miss Jennette Cutler, of New Jersey, the maid of honor, followed alone, and then the bride on the arm of her father. At and then the bride on the arm of her father. At brother, Mr. Louis Howland. The beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Episcopal Church was performed by the Rev. J. Hilliard Ranger, pastor of Christ P. E. Church, of which Mr. Howland is a member. The bride's dress, rich and elegant in the extreme, was of heavy corded silk, made with a very long train and the front was covered with draperies of duchesse lace. She wore a tulle veil and carried a prayer-book, from which the service was read. The brides-maids' dresses were of striped white tissue, demi-train. Each carried a large bonquet of roses and wore a veil. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party returned to the family residence, No. 826 North Meridian street, where a wedding sup-per was served, and at 8:30 a large reception was given. Miss Gates is one of this city's pretriest and most popular young ladies, and a great favorite in musical circles. Numerous gifts, rare and costly, were presented and were in great variety. Mr. and Mrs. Howland left at 11 o'clock for Chicago, and after an extended trip will return to this city and make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Gates. BREWER-WITHROW. To the Western Associated Press. CHICAGO, Oct. 18 .- The Third Presbyterian Church was crowded to-night to witness the marriage ceremony of Mr. Daniel Chauncey Brewer, of Boston, and Miss Genevieve Withrow. Kev. Dr. Withrow, pastor of the church and father of the bride, officiated. Elaborate floral decorations adorned the altar. The bridal party consisted of Mr. Charles H. Bigelow, jr., of St. Paul, as best man; Mr. F. Garrettson Jewett, jr., of Albany, N. Y.; Mr. Percy W. Blackmer, of St. Louis; Ernest Blackmer, of Chicago; H. B. Holmes, of Chicago; John Carse and Rev. Harris Gregg, of Chicago, these all being Williams College mates of the groom. The four other ushers were David Carse, George W. Kitredge, Howard C. Pettibone and A. S. Kimball, all of Chicago. Four charming and elegantly-dressed children served as bridesmaids, and Miss Gertrude Bebee, of Chicago, stood as maid of bonor. Dr. J. Suydam Knox, a distinguished professor in the Rush Medical College, and a college classmate of the pastor, gave the bride away. The presents to the bride were an embarrassment of riches. Choicest silver and gold, pieces of Royal Worcester ware, with jewelry and precious gems, made a display costing thousands of dollars and presenting an array rarely surpassed. LOOK AT IT

The length of life for a watch depends largely upon the number of its jewels. The range of prices for American watches runs from $5 to $500, the costliest being a split second minute register timing watch. In the United States about 3.500 watches are manufactured every day. The Waltham factory turns out 1,500 per day, and the Elgin factory between 1,200 and 1,300. There are a few other watch factories in the West, but their output is comparatively small, and the two here spoken of are the biggest in the world .- Newspaper item.
